"Calvin Edward Gross, on behalf of the Board of Trustees of the College, I hereby designate you the fifth president of National College of Education. (excerpt from Investiture by R. C. Keck)

... And so it happened. On Oct. 9, 1973 Dr. Calvin E. Gross was inaugurated as National's new president. Those invited to witness and to help celebrate National's history in the making were delegates and guests from across the country. The ceremony itself included a delegation procession and the singing of the National Anthem. Dayton Grafman gave the welcoming speech, followed by salutations to the president. The NCE Community Chorus performed. Maurice B. Mitchell delivered the main speech. Then came the Investiture, the response to the investiture, and finally the procession out at the end.

Congratulations Dr. Gross. We welcome you!

Friday, Oct. 26 was a definite chance for the Faculty to show us their talent. Their talent lasted 1 . . 2 . . 3 . . possibly 4 hours. Anyways it was well worth a standing ovation- (or were we just stretching?) In any case the money raised went to the National Promise Campaign.

A Year's Struggle for NCE's Communication Medias

WNCE
National's Radio Station

In fall '73 many were filled with high hopes and great expectations for new changes planned for WNCE. Under the direction of Dave Hansen the members of the station pushed for a much improved quality. Apathy did not exist within this group of people. It seemed for once NCE was in for a treat. But National would not financially back them in their endeavors for qualities of excellence. But soon the station was robbed and the lounge only heard the noise and talk.

N.C.E. is an Underachiever!!!

Editor: Jeff Pauly

How?

An underachiever, by definition (in this case) is an institution which does not reach or strive to reach it's full potential.

Maybe National has a learning disability. Dyslexia? Maybe policies never seem to be quite the way they were intended. For example, what about a standard system for giving faculty commendations?

How about hyperactivity? I hear lots of noise and see lots of movement, but no productive action. Socially problems? Well if the only time you could really be alone with a member of the opposite sex was only four days a week for five hours (Baker) or

Obituary?

Have you heard the rumor that there won't be a yearbook for this year. Or better yet, that you are going to be double crossed and not receive last year's yearbook?

Well you are wet behind the ears if you listen and believe such idle gossip. After much work in finding missing parts, making final corrections, the 1973 yearbook is on its way to the publisher. This year's staff has taken time off from their own work to complete the work of the incomplete yearbook. Ah... now you are thinking that they are forgetting this year's yearbook. Again you are wrong. The book is well under way and the staff, consisting of: Jean Hesford, Jane Schade, Wendy Williams, Mike Leppen, Hope Yamashita, Bonni Murphy, Becky McMullan, Ginger Ryser and many others, are busy making sure that a repeat of last year won't happen again this year.

Danitra Vance & Janet Webb wrote and produced an "experiment in theatre" called SEGMENTS. The poetry and short plays were performed with much success May 12, 1974 in Carlson Auditorium. It was a special creative contribution appreciated by all.

For the first time a poetry magazine was created here at National. At the end of Spring term the magazine, titled CELEBRATION was completed and distributed.

Spring Honors Convocation

Brenda LaMothe 1974 May Queen

Containing very little dialogue and a plot line shinning forth in songs of sons and sins, crimes and carrousel, "Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris" brought a spirit of excitement to National very rarely seen. The dynamic stage presence of the cast combined with the visual effects more than filled the stage with energy which poured out to the audience. They were soon caught up in the songs of the streets of Brussels and the port of Amsterdam. Unafraid to compare the middleclass to pigs and perceptive enough to know that life would be much better if we only had love, Jacques Brel shared with the audience and cast a deep insight of life.

SPRING WEEKEND

Presenting NCE's 1974 Spring Weekend Queen Ellie Kleinhenz and her Royal Court.

"Why?"

"Because!"

"Spring Weekend" activities culminated in a dinner-dance on April 20th at the Holiday Inn in Northbrook. Providing the music was Dove Romaine Productions. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of Ellie Kleinhenz as the Spring Weekend Queen for 1974.

WHERE YOU ARE
A musical comedy

written, designed, & directed by Paul Decker

About seven years ago I decided that I wanted to write a musical version of ALICE IN WONDERLAND. I began by writing a tremendous amount of very poor lyrics and very poor plot outlines, none of which survive today-fortunately. . . Finally, in 1972, I wrote the first snatches of dialogue, none of which survive today- VERY fortunately.

But summer and a burst of creativity prevailed, and within a few days the lyrics to eight songs were written-five of which do not survive today. By fall, a 17 song, 16 character, one-act play was finished - which does not survive today.

In March of this year I tossed out three characters, seven songs, most of the dialogue and the entire plot and started over. . . in less than three weeks a musical comedy finally materialized.

This time around, it's my story, not Lewis Carroll's. Indeed, less than one full page of dialogue remains of the original text of that classic story of Alice's dream world; WHERE YOR ARE is about a different kind of dream entirely.

Paul Decker

During the Spring term students of Sybil Shearer performed "23 Virgins and a Devil". Sybil Shearer is National's artist-in-residence who is an internationally acclaimed dancer and choreographer.
